Obtained—Alleged Anarchist Arrested—Death Roll Will Number 21—Five Bodies Found.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 3.—The most sensational hunt in the history of the West is on for the dynamiters who wrecked The Times office, costing the lives of probably 21 persons. Martin Egan, an alleged anarchist, has been arrested. The police have learned that the nitroglycerine came from the Giant powder works of Giant, Cal., and was bought by three men at the San Francisco office of the company. Five bodies have been found. It is unlikely that the injured will die, although some of them will be crippled for life. A reward of $18,500 has been offered for the apprehension of the guilty ones. Many cling to the theory of a gas explosion, which was thought by some to be the cause, but since then four sticks of dynamite have been found near the Maier Brewing company, which was recently threatened.

He had left his home to be sure that a brush fire started Saturday had not been scattered by the wind. Failing to return, his relatives sought him and found his dead body.

Mr. Stone, who was 61 years old, was a member of the Maine House of Representatives and of the state Senate about 25 years ago. He had always been prominent in town and county affairs. He was a graduate of Bowdoin college and never married.

LIVELY CONTEST AHEAD.

Prospects That Democrats Will Be Considerably Stirred Up.

Boston, Oct. 3.—The prospects of a lively contest within the Democratic party over the three candidates for the nomination for governor during the next three days preceding the state convention, was heightened last night by the appearance of a lengthy statement from Frederick J. MacLeod, chairman of the Democratic state committee, in which Mr. MacLeod gives his reasons for supporting the candidacy of Congressman Eugene N. Foss.

Taking occasion to deny "insinuations" that he is any way "misusing his official position in the interests of any candidate," chairman MacLeod declares he has the right to express his personal preference in the contest, and will say publicly what he has declared in private.

Mr. MacLeod declares he had given his support to Mr. Foss as the man who will make the strongest fight at the polls, due in a large measure to the candidate's former identification with the Republican and non-participation in the old factional fights within the Democratic party.

Neither Charles S. Hamlin nor John F. Fitzgerald, if they are candidates, would be likely to carry Boston by over 5,000 votes this year," states Mr. MacLeod. "While Mr. Foss or Mr. Vahey, or almost any other satisfactory candidate would pass a majority of at least 25,000."

The statement then goes on to enumerate various qualifications favoring the nomination of Mr. Foss for governor.

MAY BE FATALLY HURT.

Wesleyan University Football Player Injured Saturday.

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 3.—That the new rules under which football is being played this season have not eliminated all chances of serious injury, was evidenced in Saturday's games in this state, when Arthur M. Wright of Oakfield, N. Y., and on the Wesleyan team, received serious if not fatal injuries during a game with the Connecticut Agriculture college at Middletown, and five other college players were more or less seriously hurt. Wright's condition is said to be critical.

In the Trinity-Worcester Polytechnic game at Hartford, full back Hudson, of the former team, was taken to a hospital with a broken ankle.

Four Yale men were injured in the Syracuse game. John Field, half back, will probably be out of the game for the rest of the season; S. D. Roeseler, end, wrenched a knee and will be unable to play until late in the season, and captain Fred Daly and quarterback H. N. Treadwell were bruised about the head and shoulders.

secuted for Criminal Negligence.

Minneapolis, L. I., Oct. 3.—The Nassau county board of supervisors met here to-day, and it is believed likely that they will cancel the permit for the grand prix race, October 16, as a result of the butchery at the Vanderbilt cup race. BARN BURNEDSorrowful Homecoming for Brownington People

AFTER GOING TO A FUNERAL

Boy Was Playing in Front Yard When Hit by a Bolt—Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln Campbell Parents of the Victim.

Newport, Oct. 3.—When Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln Campbell of Brownington returned home from a funeral Saturday afternoon, they found their barn in ruins and their young son dead. The lad had been struck by lightning while playing in the front yard and the barn was ignited by lightning.

During the progress of the same storm the residence of Joseph Folsom just across the river in the town of Derby was struck by lightning. A hole about four feet in diameter was burned in the roof. The family were away at the time but neighbors saw the blaze and extinguished it before great damage was done. The bolt circled about the house to some extent and several articles of furniture were tipped over.

MARBLEHEAD PEOPLE SCARED

By Fire Which Broke Out Early Sunday Morning.

Marblehead, Mass., Oct. 3.—Residents of Marblehead were given a scare early Sunday by a fire that threatened to wipe out this old fishing town, but which was brought under control by the firemen after two hours' hard work and damage estimated at $50,000 had been done. Almost a score of families fled their beds and rushed into the streets, alarmed by the great tongues of flame that shot into the sky on the gale that raged during the night.

The Unitarian church, built in 1832 and one of the old landmarks of the town, was destroyed by the flames. Sparks carried across the house tops on the high wind, started several small blazes, but all these were extinguished without difficulty. Help was summoned from Lynn, Salem, Peabody and Swampscott, and it was mainly due to the work of these additional fire-fighters, that the flames were checked and a threatened conflagration averted.

The flames broke out in the wooden building occupied by the Marblehead Motor Boat company on Mungford street, from sparks from a brush fire. It is believed that smoldered all night. About 1 o'clock the flames were discovered and spread rapidly, quickly consuming the Unitarian church, next door to the shop. Half an hour after the fire was discovered, both buildings were a mass of flame that lighted up the sky for miles around.

From the church, which was a wooden frame building and one of the largest structures of its kind in Marblehead, the flames spread to the house of William A. and George H. Laskey. This dwelling was practically destroyed before the fire was controlled.

THREE MEN MAY DIE.

Were Burned During Fire at Springfield, Mass., Last Night.

Springfield, Mass., Oct. 3.—Three employees of the N. Y. N. H. & H. railroad are in Mercy hospital, probably fatally burned, as a result of a gasoline explosion on a turntable last night. The men are John Eason, Frank Keeney and Ralph Jones.

They were attempting to repair a small engine, which operates a big turntable, when the explosion blew up the small wooden structure inclosing the engine and set the turntable afire.

The men were removed to the hospital and the firemen fought the flames for half an hour before the fire was extinguished.

As a result of the fire, the entire structure of the road between this city and New York was tied up for nearly two hours, and several locomotives are locked in the roundhouse. It will be necessary to rebuild the turntable before the locomotives can be released from their confinement.

$5,000 FIRE AT BARTON.

Upper Story of Pillsbury & Baldwin
Plant Burned.

Barton, Oct. 3.—A loss of about $5,000 was sustained by the Pillsbury & Baldwin Manufacturing Co., when fire broke out in the upper story of their plant here at 8:30 o'clock Saturday night. Pillsbury & Baldwin make plumbers' woodenware and the fire started in the painting and varnishing department, supposedly from spontaneous combustion. The fire was quite a stubborn one, but the department put up a good fight and had it under control in about a half hour.

The plant is to be moved to St. Johnsbury about January 1, so it is probable that no great effort will be made to rebuild new quarters here for the painting and varnishing department. The lower part of the building can be put in shape so that operations can be continued here until removal time.

The university extension work in Boston is to go forward this winter on a larger scale than hitherto. Harvard university is furnishing six of its instructors for the work, courses in English literature and composition being given by Mr. Copeland, Prof. Greenough and Mr. Hersey, in psychology by Prof. Yerkes, in the geography of Europe by Prof. W. W. Johnson, and in physiological botany by Prof. Osterhout. Students in the extension courses may be entered as candidates for the degree of associate in arts, a degree which is now accepted by the Boston school committee as sufficient to qualify candidates for admission to the examination for high school teachers' certificates on an equality with the degree of bachelor of arts.

STRUCK AND KILLED
BY CENTRAL TRAINWilliam R. Blaine of Burlington Was Knocked Off Bridge and Fell 50 Feet.

Burlington, Oct. 3.—William R. Blaine, an elderly colored man, was hurled to his death Saturday evening from the railroad bridge below Athletic park, when he was struck by an extra train, in charge of conductor Poole, with engineer McClure at the throttle. The accident took place near the Winooski end of the bridge and it is supposed that Blaine attempted to beat the train across. When picked up at the bottom of the 50-foot embankment he was still breathing, but expired before medical aid could reach him.

The train was a special and was running at a slow rate of speed when it struck Blaine. The time was about 6:30 and because of the darkness, the engineer could not see the man until it was too late, although the train was stopped within a stone's throw of the place where Blaine was struck. McClure realized that he had hit someone when the accident occurred and stopped his train long enough to allow a brakeman to be sent down to look after the injured man, and then proceeded at full speed to Winooski to obtain aid. Fred Frazier of Winooski witnessed the accident and he also went to Blaine's assistance.

When Dr. A. E. Burdick, the health officer, and the police arrived, Blaine was dead, although he was still breathing when found by the brakeman and Frazier. Mrs. Slim Braxton, daughter of Dr. Burdick's automobile and ordered the removal of the body to the undertaking rooms of A. E. Clement in Winooski. An examination was made but no autopsy was performed. The only sign of a wound was on the back of the head, where two pronounced fractures were discovered.

Blaine was 66 years of age and was accustomed to take long walks, sometimes along the railroad tracks. He came to this city about a year and a half ago and has since been living with a daughter near the post. He also leaves another daughter, Mrs. Eleanor Elijah of New York. Blaine is a veteran of the Civil war but never served in the regular army. Mr. and Mrs. Braxton left last night with the body for New Haven, Conn., where burial will take place.

Tracy and deputy sheriff Henry Lawson of Montpelier were here last night to investigate the matter, but found they had practically nothing to work upon, though the explosion is said to have been heard by many.

PECULIAR ANTICS.

Lightning Tore Off Strips From Eleven
Telephone Poles in a Row.

Middlebury, Oct. 3.—Another severe electrical storm passed over this region at about eight o'clock Saturday morning and the lightning played some funny capers on Mungford street. It struck a telephone pole, a row and set a wood stand alive out of each of them from top to bottom from an inch to two inches wide and from an inch to two inches deep. These scintillations were laid across the road in as regular order as though placed there on purpose, by workmen.

Frank Eastman, driving from New Haven Mills to his home, drove over all but one of them and found that one so big that he left his team and moved it out of the road. A lady on the street asked him when he got home to have come and fix her 'phone, which had been put out of commission, but when he got home, he found that his own 'phone was in the same condition as were others on the street.

A large elm tree on Seymour street opposite the Congregational church was struck during the same storm, some of the bark was ripped off and an immense hole bored in the ground.
